

This new category was created to reduce the number of entries in the Trade Illustrated section, and to give these highly specialised books the attention they deserve.

Many of the books displayed very high standards of typography and layout, coupled with some exceptional photography and quality of reproduction. The colour had been painstakingly checked at every stage to ensure the accurate reproduction of many works of art and photographs. The judges were pleased to see that some books had been produced using exciting and innovative methods – one book was printed with stochastic screening and spot silver.

The winner, Time in Space, displayed a very modern design with the text, photographs and layout all cleverly tied-in to the title. The photographs were superbly reproduced and printed.
